

May 5 and 6, 2018

I like to create unusual techniques and then make them into usable patterns. I get wild ideas all the time and work them out on the machine, so before May, I might have a couple of new ones developed and ready to demo. Here is what I have planned so far for the May Seminar:

Topics: New and interesting machine knitting techniques

- How to do a single layer plaid design - no punchcard, no strands on the back
- How to spin up your own custom yarns using component yarns - tips and techniques
- Freestyle knitting, piecework and construction
- Stranded weaving and braided cables - surface design with a purpose
- Innovative short-rowing and garment construction
